

MACLEOD TO HAVE NEW INDUSTRY

The persistent rumor that the C.P.R. will establish a creosote dipping plant at Macleod would appear to be logically founded. As is well known the C. P. R. has large timber limits on the head waters tributary to the Old Man river and Macleod is the first shipping point at which timber can be taken from the Old man and its tributaries. This, coupled with the fact that the Macleod Mill will afford manufacturing facilities for railroad ties and the backwater above their dam would afford ample boom facilities lends credence to the belief that the dipping plant will be established at this point.

CAPITAL GOSSIP AND PROVINCIAL NEWS

Closed for Season
The Provincial Government seed cleaning and grading plant at Edmonton has been closed for the season, and no more cleaning will be done until after the grain from the new crop comes in the fall.

Co-operative Hay Shipping
The Co-operative Livestock Shipping Association at Coronation reports successful shipments of hogs and cattle to the Calgary Stockyards. On a $0.50 market for hogs, selling expenses, freight, commissions, insurance, etc., absorbed about 50 cents per 100 pounds, leaving the producers $9.00 per 100 lbs. off the cars at Calgary. The shrinkage between Coronation and Calgary was 3% pounds per hog. The farmers producing the hogs considered the co-operative shipping very satisfactory.

New Acts Take Effect
Alberta's new debt adjustment act will become effective on June 1st. Commissioner E. J. Fream of the public utilities board, who is commissioner for The Drought Relief Act in southern Alberta, has been appointed director for the new act. The provisions of The Children of Unmarried Parents Act comes into effect on June 1st.

The Slot Machine Tax Act becomes operative on June 1st. This Act imposes a license fee of $50.00 per year for these machines. A test case in connection with this Act will be taken to the courts.

Montana Has Her Troubles
The Scientific Farmer, published at Missoula, Montana, reflects the results of the past couple of years' drought conditions in Montana when it asks: "What is the matter with Montana? During the past two years one hundred banks have failed, twenty-five per cent of the farms have been abandoned, and fifty thousand people have left the State."

Western Cattle are Healthy
Alberta purchased cattle which were entered in the accredited herd tests for the year ending March 31, 1923, came through with next to the lowest record of reactors, being second to British Columbia which was the cleanest with a percentage of 4.94 per cent, reactors, while Alberta had 6.03 per cent. The report of the veterinary inspector general which has just been issued, shows that there were in all 32,043 head of cattle tested in Canada, of which there were 4,740 reactors, a percentage of 14.73, the compensation paid being $533,161.

Part of Sedgewick Farm Sold
The Provincial Government has recently disposed of a portion of the Demonstration Farm at Sedgewick, which was established there several years ago. The half-section sold comprised the main part of the farm, and on which the farm buildings were located. The province still owns a half section to the south of the portion sold, and under the agreement the Government retains one dwelling and two barns which will be moved to this part of the farm. It is planned to dispose of the remainder of the farm as soon as possible. In the meantime the half section still held by the Department of Agriculture will be rented for the present year.

Trans-Canada Highway
On Tuesday morning the plans for the Trans-Canada Highway were laid before the Minister of Public Works by Dr. Doolittle, President of the Canadian Automobile Association. So far as Alberta is concerned we will have two branches of the main highway. This Highway runs from Halifax to Regina, where it forks, one branch going west by way of Moose Jaw, Medicine Hat, Calgary and Banff to Vancouver, and the other going west by Saskatoon, Battleford, Edmonton and Jasper Park to Vancouver. This will put a main line highway through each of Alberta's great National Parks. Mr. Ross, Minister of Public Works, approved of the plan, and said he intended to make personal inspection of the Jasper Highway route. He left this week on this trip of inspection.

Highway Engineers Meet
H. P. Keith, District Road Inspector for Alberta, Lethbridge; Mr. Harlow, State Highway Engineer, Montreal, and a Dominion Government engineer, held a conference at Cardston this week to discuss the "park to park" highway proposition.

Tendered Banquet
On Wednesday night members of the medical profession and citizens of Edmonton tendered a banquet to Prof. J. B. Collip, of the University of Alberta, in recognition of his share in the discovery of "insulin" used in the treatment of diabetes.

Grasshopper Campaign
Agriculture have completed a survey of the province and have the grasshopper pest eradication campaign well organized and functioning. The central supply stations at Edmonton, Calgary, Munson, Medicine Hat and Lethbridge are equipped with supplies for poison bait to meet any demands which may be made. The provincial organization covering the unorganized portions of the country is complete, a number of the officials who were on the work last year being employed. Last year's work has given them valuable experience, and which may be required this year. The same thing is true of the organized municipalities—they are in good shape to take up the work where necessary. It is anticipated that the good results of last season's energetic campaign will minimize the work for this year. The roadside grasshopper shelter has been lighted up, any trouble this year is expected to come from the Lesser Striped Grasshopper, Professor Strickland, Government Entomologist, is this week in the Peace River country investigating reports from that part of the province.

SECOND FORTNIGHTLY CROP REPORT

Wheat seeding in the province is finished and in many sections the crop is up and looking healthy and vigorous. The total wheat acreage will be somewhat under that of last year, but on the whole it is considered that the seeding was done in better shape and on better prepared land. Oats, barley and fodder crop seeding is now progressing. In portions of central Alberta, where the early rainfall has been light, some of the oat seeding was held back awaiting rains. The indications are that considerable oats will be sown this year to be cut for a fodder crop. Most sections of the southern part of the province report good rainfall, and that the grain is coming along in fine shape. In parts of central and northern Alberta there have been good showers, while in other sections more rainfall is needed. On the 22nd, a fine rain fell in the east central part of Alberta extending from Saskatchewan as far west as Byley. At first there was seven hours' rain, and at Vermilion one fifth of an inch fell. The Grande Prairie district had a good rain on Tuesday, with lighter rains at Peace River and at Berwyn and in other sections of the north. To-day rain is falling at Edmonton and the showers are reported as far south as Red Deer. Last week frost was reported from some sections, but only in one or two spots was any damage to young crops reported.

From nearly all parts of southern Alberta a large increase in the acreage sown to fodder crops is reported. Considerable new Alfalfa acreage has been sown, also a large acreage of corn and alfalfa, indicating that farmers are giving more attention to fodder crops and to dairying. Sweet clover wintered well in Central Alberta. Fall rye in some sections is over a foot high. In places the fall rye winter killed where water laid on the crop or where it was not covered by snow.

With anything like a normal supply of rainfall during the growing season, the early crop indications would appear to be very fair as far south as somewhat less than last year, and the seeding period in most parts very favorable for doing good spring work.

Pasture in the central and northern parts of Alberta is short, and will be benefited by good rainfalls. Last year's supplies of fodder have been pretty well exhausted.

Grasshoppers—Any danger of a real menace from the grasshopper pest has not yet developed. The whole country was well organized last year, and the work done is showing good effects this season. The Department of Agriculture has the organization already in the field and is well prepared to meet any trouble which may arise. So far the reports have not been serious.

UNION SERVICES
In the absence of Mr. Armstrong at Conference next Sunday, June 3rd, Union Services will be held in the Methodist and Presbyterian Churches. The morning service will be held in the Methodist Church and the evening service in the Presbyterian Church.

The Sunday School will meet as usual.

Rev. J. Kennedy will preach at both services.

Speaker: Yes, died from a bad stroke!

PRIVY COUNCIL TO DECIDE BETWEEN SCOTT AND HARVEY AS CHIEF JUSTICE

London, May 26.—(C. P. Cable)—Fifteen Canadian appeals are to come before the judicial committee of the privy council at the ensuing term.

One appeal is brought by the province of British Columbia against the Dominion government's disallowance of the provincial act validating orders in council with reference to the employment of Japanese labor in British Columbia. A second appeal by British Columbia is over a dispute as to whether liquor imported into the province is liable to the Dominion customs duty.

Cross appeals between the crown and the Canadian Northern Railway concerning the latter's liability to tax on its income are to come up for hearing before the judicial committee of the privy council.

The United States of America is an appellant in a case against Motor Truck Limited which arises out of a claim to lands and buildings in connection with a contract for the supply of shells for the United States army. Scott versus the Dominion attorney-general, is an appeal to decide whether Justice Harvey or Justice Scott is to be ranked as chief justice of the appellate division of the supreme court, and a decision that Justice Harvey was the chief justice.

MANITOBA WILL VOTE ON LIQUOR QUESTION JUNE 22

Winnipeg, May 26.—(Canadian Press).—With its record of four votes for prohibition and one adverse majority, Manitoba on June 22 will be asked once more to decide whether or not liquor shall be available in this province for beverage purposes. Since the first vote was taken 31 years ago prohibition at intervals has been a subject of controversy in the province, and in the last of these particularly there has been nothing resembling a truce between the champions and the opponents of the existing temperance act. The warfare has been strenuous with both sides apparently grimly confident of the ultimate outcome.

On June 22 the Manitoba electorate will vote upon the bill prepared by the Moderation League which provides for the sale of liquor for beverage purposes, the distribution to be handled by government depots. A second referendum will be held on July 11 on the petition of the Beer and Wine League, which provides for an amendment to the Manitoba Temperance Act to permit the sale of beer and wine with meals at hotels. Should either or both proposals be favored by a majority of the voters the legislature will reconvene on an early date to enact the necessary legislation for putting into effect the people's will. New voting lists are being prepared in Winnipeg, but elsewhere in the province the old lists are to be used, with provision for addition by affidavit.

PLAN POOL TO HANDLE 1923 CROP

Winnipeg, May 26.—In the belief that there will be no wheat board formed by Saskatchewan and Alberta and that the market legislation on the statute books of these two provinces will never become operative, the Canadian Council of Agriculture is making preliminary plans now for the organization of a gigantic grain pool to handle the 1923 crop of the three prairie provinces, states a special dispatch from Regina to Winnipeg Tribune this afternoon.

The dispatch says: "Presentations, it was learned on high authority today, are already being made for a meeting of the Western section of the council to take place in June and officials of the organization are determined to have a pool established by harvest time."

"The scheme will be a voluntary co-operative affair, spreading over Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, and will be handled by the grain export departments of the Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator company and the United Grain Growers, both of which organizations are represented on the council."

AVERT TURK GREEK WAR

London, May 26.—The Turco-Greek controversy, which it was thought might result in hostility, has been settled, says an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Lausanne this evening. The details, the message adds, will be arranged later.

A virtual agreement for settlement was reached after a three-hour conference at Lausanne, according to the agency advices, and ex-Premier Venizelos of Greece, after emerging from the conference, said to the newspapermen laconically: "Peace."

A message to Reuters from Lausanne was confirmatory of the other advices, telling of the settlement of the Turco-Greek dispute.

LAUSANNE CONFIRMS

Lausanne, May 26.—Turkey and Greece have reached an agreement on the reparations question, which was threatening a breach and possible hostilities it was announced this afternoon.

ARMSTRONG NOT GUILTY

Edmonton, May 30.—"Not guilty" was the verdict brought in by the jury at 3:35 p. m. yesterday, and, accompanied by the sound of loud applause, former Postmaster George S. Armstrong was absolved of the charge of theft of $50,000 in Merchants Bank bills from the registration department of the Edmonton postoffice in August, 1919.

After the charge to the jury by Mr. Justice Simmonds, and the retirement of the jury at 3:15, only ten minutes elapsed before the jury returned with their verdict of acquittal.

Following the decision was a hurricane of handclapping. No rider was added to the verdict by the jury.

The prosecution, who throughout the trial had been anxious to see the trial go to a verdict of guilty, was ordered to stand. Mr. Justice Simmonds announced "you are discharged. Mr. Armstrong, the court is adjourned," and George Armstrong left the court on the arm of his wife.

TO REVIVE THE BOARD OF TRADE OF TRADE

At an informal meeting of Macleod business men held on Monday afternoon it was deemed advisable to revive the Macleod Board of Trade, and accordingly posters have been printed and distributed calling a reorganization meeting to be held in the Town Hall on Friday, June 1st, at 8 o'clock p. m.

The importance of this move cannot be over-estimated. All signs point to a banner year for Macleod and its vicinity. There are rumors bearing the hall mark of authenticity regarding the completion of the big McLaren Mill project and the establishment of a Creosote dipping plant here by the C. P. R. Big business for Macleod—and out of which would arise many issues that could only be dealt with properly by an organized body of the town's business men and residents and the interested farmers of the district. The necessity and usefulness of a board of trade is obvious, and all who have the town and district's interests at heart are urged to attend the reorganization meeting on Friday evening.

DEPUTY ATTORNEY GENERAL LEAVING

Edmonton, Alta., May 26.—Word has been received in Government circles that Attorney General Brownlee will return to Edmonton about the middle of next week from his eastern trip, which has taken him to Ottawa, in company with Premier Greenfield, since the Alberta Legislature prorogued.

One of the first matters which will demand the attention of the Attorney General when he returns will be to name a successor to A. G. Brownlee, deputy attorney general, who gave notice of his resignation to the government some time ago. There is some indication that the office may be divided in the future, one official to take charge of the regular duties of deputy attorney general and the other to have charge of the official guardian's office, both of which have been carried by Mr. Brownlee. Mr. Brownlee is also chairman of the minimum wage board of the province.

When it was arranged some time ago that Hon. Mr. Brownlee might go to the old country to look after the province's interests, the C. N. E. versus the crown appeal before the privy council, Mr. Brownlee agreed to remain at his post here until after the attorney general returned from the trip. However since Mr. Brownlee has evidently cancelled his trip to England, it is probable that Mr. Brownlee will resign early in July. The province will be represented at the Privy Council appeal in all probability by H. H. Parlee, K. C., of Edmonton.

Whether or not Premier Greenfield is returning at the same time as the Attorney General from the east is not known here. No word has been received in Government circles from the premier for some time. The only intimation that he is on his way home was that carried in press despatches from Toronto a few days ago, which stated that both Mr. Greenfield and Mr. Brownlee were leaving for the west.

Hill Spring News

Pres. E. J. Wood, Thos. Duce, J. W. Jacobs and Mayor Cadwell were speakers in Hill Spring on Sunday. They arrived a little late for Sunday School but remained until after Church services. They all spoke encouragingly to the people and very splendidly of the great work that was being done. These people also brought with them Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Jones and Mrs. Annie Layton to furnish music for the session. Mr. Jones played two excellent violin solos, Mrs. Jones sang two solos and Mrs. Layton played a Piano selection. Mrs. Raymond gave a nice recitation, "An Old Brethren of Mine" by James Whitcomb Riley. All the services were very good and every one was well pleased that these people came to visit them.

Mr. E. J. Wood and his daughter Myrtle returned with their car Sunday. Mrs. Wood has been very busy the past week with preparations for a few days visit during the week.

Mac, the small son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Winder has been very sick in the past week with influenza but is now showing improvement.

Mr. and Mrs. Winder are planning to leave for a short visit to the coast.

WHY MOVE THE BLOOD AGENCY

Residents of Macleod are up in arms over the rumor current here that the new $100,000 Indian school on the Blood Reserve is to be built at a point three miles from Cardston and that the Blood Agency buildings are to be at an early date moved across the reserve to a point within seven miles of Cardston. People of this town and district are naturally asking what advantages are to accrue to the agency or the Indians by reason of the proposed moving of the agency site—especially in view of the fact that the majority of the reserve's population is resident on tilled lands west and south-west of the present agency site and much nearer it than they would be to the proposed new location near Cardston. It would be of interest locally if a definite reason could be figured out to justify the expense of moving the present agency when it would appear this expense could be obviated by building the new school at a point near the agency as the present one is located on St. Paul's Mission and the Roman Catholic Mission both of which have been powers for good in Indian Education—why would not the continuance of the community as now established and with the addition of the new school be perfectly satisfactory and do away with much expense in moving—Why?

THE TURKS' OLD GAME

The renewal of the Lausanne peace conference brings back threats of war. These are not likely to become actuality, but the game of bluff by the Angora Nationalists may go right to the verge of hostilities. Last Autumn, threatening military movements around the British forces at Constantinople kept up a tension for weeks. At one time, an ultimatum was sent to Allied ships in Smyrna harbor that if they did not leave in a specified number of hours they would be fired on. The ships moved not, and the ultimatum was disregarded. When the British and French got down to the critical issues the struggle to make the Turks sign will be intense.

The issuance by the Turks of a long list of concessions to an American syndicate headed by Rear Admiral Chester is another complication. For a relatively small sum, some £40,000 Turkish, it is said, the manner in which the principality lives on gambling, did not increase its popularity, so when he called for syndicate gets many oil and railway building privileges, some of which are in territory under mandate, by the Versailles treaty, to the British Government. The connection between the Mosul and Bagdad railways is one. This concession is an attempt to play off the United States against Britain and France. Finding that London and Paris had finally arrived at a working agreement the Turks turned to this exploiting American group, and, on paper, compiled a formidable list of concessions. They may never be carried out. But the old game of stirring up international rivalries and jealousies has to be played—also the Turks would deem themselves failing in diplomacy and the injection of new disputes assured. The French regard some of the economic phases of the Chester deal as violating their rights under old agreements.

The Washington Government remained aloof from the Near East issue when the Allies were anxious that it should participate. The presence of the United States in the Levant negotiations would help to give stability to the situation, providing that its general interests were dominant and not those of some of its economic exploiters. Clearer revelations as to the exact status of the Chester syndicate and its proposals are necessary to judge of the effect on the British-French position, and its relation to that of the United States. The United States Government, which is anxious for peace, stability and reconstruction, should take cognizance of the new dangers, and arrange to give support to Britain and France at Lausanne, so far as it justly can, to foil the Turks, and ensure prompt peace.

PREMIER BALDWIN'S TASK

Mr. Lloyd George and Mr. Bonar Law were reputed to be close personal friends. The Law Government did not receive regular Opposition attention from the former Premier, but only occasional sharp criticism. Mr. Stanley Baldwin, the new Prime Minister, will get no favors from Opposition quarters. The period of uncompromising party division has returned with the departure from office of the man who, loyal to Lloyd George in the Coalition Government, did so much to help Britain through the war.

Mr. Baldwin has come into great responsibilities at a time when firmness, tact, and ability to vindicate courses to the people, are much needed. The Labor element will be very active. When Mr. Lloyd George entered politics, about forty years ago, there were only two Socialist candidates for the Commons. One of them received 32 votes, the other 29. To-day, the Labor representation is the second largest in the House, and for it 4,251,000 votes were cast in the last election. Some of these Labor men are as sound on major public issues as men of Conservative groups, but the Labor party contains wild dreamers, Communists, Socialists of all shades, and cranks who could never get into the House save on the shoulders of an irresponsible fanatical majority. Lloyd George is predicting acute trouble with this radical element. If the mass of voters, poor and with no alternative but poverty, put into office men representing them, committed to a policy of destruction of wealth, what of the future of Britain? Mr. Lloyd George has been known to yell "Fire" on these subjects before, but Mr. Baldwin will find the radicals in the House and out of it embarrassing.

The new Prime Minister has, in immediate prospect, a difficult task in foreign affairs. Lloyd George almost usurped the Foreign Office portfolio in the later years of his residence at Downing Street, but both Mr. Law and Mr. Baldwin are men who respect the individual responsibilities of Cabinet Ministers as well as the need for collective decisions. The Russian and Turkish issues are each fraught with explosive possibilities. Lord Curzon, who is a very able man, may get through both difficulties with utmost credit, but the Government will have much to try its patience.

ANNUAL AGRICULTURAL STATISTICS OF CANADA, 1923.

Ottawa, May 23, 1923. The Dominion Bureau of Statistics announces the completion of its arrangements for collection next month of the annual agricultural Statistics of Canada. Following plans begun five years ago in cooperation with the Provincial Governments, the returns are collected annually by means of a simple schedule, calling for a statement of the areas sown to field crops, and of the numbers of farm animals alive on June 15. When completed they are compiled into totals by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, and the areas, as finally estimated, form the basis for the estimation after harvest of the yield of field crops. In all save three of the provinces viz., Prince Edward Island, Quebec and British Columbia, the cards will be distributed next month, as in previous years, through the agency of the rural schools. In British Columbia the cards are mailed direct to farmers. This year, for the first time, the plan of mailing direct will also be applied to Prince Edward Island. In Quebec, a modification of previous plans is also this year being put into operation by the Quebec Bureau of Statistics. Instead of the cards being issued through the rural schools as heretofore, they will be distributed by local agents under the direction of the agronomists or district agricultural representatives.

In view of the special importance of the cereal crops of the Prairie Provinces, it is proposed this year to give them separate precedence of compilation, with a view to publication of the estimates for wheat, oats, barley, and flax, earlier than is possible when the results depend upon completion of the whole work.

Early and trustworthy estimates of the field crops of Canada are urgently required by all interests connected with the national basic industry of agriculture, including those of the elevator companies, transportation companies, bankers insurance societies, grain merchants millers, and a large number of other mercantile concerns, whilst such information is essential to farmers themselves, in order that they may be placed upon a level with traders in the grain markets, and not be prejudiced through ignorance of actual facts.

In connection with wheat, of which Canada is now the world's second or third largest producer, and the world's second largest exporting country, it is of the highest importance to obtain early and accurate knowledge of the world's total output, and this can only be done if Canada fail not to contribute its share.

"YOUTHS."

If thou wouldst scale the dizzy heights called fame,
And for thyself across the sky thy name wouldst write,
Then, youth, tread not the paths of vain desire,
But keep forever burning that eternal fire
That is thy heritage.

If thou wouldst own the magic spell called power,
And ever be ennobled behind its tower invincible,
Then keep thine intellect God-given ever bright,
And by its use thy goal forever keep in sight—
That is thy privilege.

And when life from its treasure trove as vast
The priceless gift of love shall shower at last upon thee—
Hast thou the portals of thy soul
To meet thy destiny?
—Ethel Munn.

bring timely statistics to the International Agricultural Institute, of which she is an adhering country.

The Bureau appeals therefore to all farmers who receive the schedule to return it duly completed without fail, should they not receive the card by the middle of June, they should apply for one, either to their local school teacher, their local Department of Agriculture, or the Dominion Bureau of Statistics at Ottawa. Farmers are positively assured that the returns collected have no connection with taxation. The officers of the Bureau are all sworn to secrecy, and no individual returns are divulged, the estimates based upon the added totals alone being published.

SUGGESTIONS FOR PLANTING HOME GROUNDS

As one result of the wide-spread movements for outdoor improvement that have swept the country, awakened the latent civic pride of individuals and in many cases, of entire communities, considerable progress has been made toward making our country more beautiful.

The neglected grounds of many school houses and public play grounds have been beautified, waste places reclaimed, and the old back yards tidied and the home grounds generally made more attractive and livable.

As landscape gardening is an art not widely understood or appreciated it is not at all surprising that mistakes have been made in some of these attempts to beautify. But if these efforts have been instrumental in removing the untidy, tell-tale signs from heretofore neglected, slovenly places, making the premises more pleasing and orderly in appearance, they have surely not been in vain.

It is much easier to criticize than to rectify, but a simple suggestion as to what constitutes artistic planting, may be of some assistance in correcting, or at least modifying, the poor effects of most flagrant errors. Haphazard planting and crowding, cause most of the troubles. To set out quantities of trees, shrubs, plants at random without a well defined decorative idea in mind, is bound to produce a "crazy quilt" effect that is confusing and disquieting.

As an artist first makes a study or sketch of a painting he desires to create, so the amateur landscape gardener should study carefully the possibilities of the area to be beautified, and compose a planting scheme that will be harmonious. In this working plan, aim to secure as large and unbroken a vista of velvety lawn as is possible as this gives a restful effect of spaciousness. Effectively grouped shrubs and plants may be used to break out a screen of undesirable objects and to form a kind of frame along the boundaries or division walls of fences. They should never, for good effect, be dotted promiscuously on the lawn proper, as such a method tends to dwarf or decrease the apparent size of the plot.

Plants graduated as to height—the tallest in the back ground—planted along the foundation of buildings soften the harsh outlines and serve as a sort of connecting link in the correlation of buildings and grounds. Stiff, formal lines in the border may be avoided by skillfully massing appropriate varieties so that the groups dovetail in an irregular fashion. Trees, if used at all, on places of limited areas, are usually better in the background. Those that attain a large size are decidedly out of place in a planting scheme for small yards.

Even the diminutive city yard has its planting possibilities. If the small patch is well sodded or sown with a high grade of lawn mixture, the resulting green sward, bordered with flowering plants and graceful vines trained to drape and screen the fence of the enclosure, will for an oasis that will prove pleasing to the eye, rest to the nerves, and a fitting recompense for all the effort put forth and for the faith implied.

FRENCH CHEMIST EUROPE'S GREAT CRIME DETECTOR

A dark quiet, little man, in a great room full of chemical apparatus and filling cases; back of him long passages full of more apparatus, more filing cases, a big photograph gallery; clipped, incisive speech; a manner which is unassuming, until you get him to talking about his work—that is Edmond Bayle, doctor, chief of the Technical Bureau of the Paris Police Department, more feared by the criminals of the continent than any other man in the world.

"Science cannot lie," says Doctor Bayle, in an interview which he gave recently to the Associated Press. "We are not yet in sight of a crimeless age," went on this master of modern detective methods. "Crime" is part of human nature. Much of it is spontaneous. The fear of detection and punishment will not prevent it. But crime is not really very mysterious. For one thing, criminals, as a rule, are not very intelligent. The uneducated man runs to crimes of passion and brutality, the educated man runs to fraud.

From my point of view there is no crime that cannot be detected; no crime that cannot be traced; no crime that, theoretically, at least, "The so-called intelligent professional criminal tries to thwart justice by many small things, such as wearing gloves, so as not to leave finger prints behind, but we have reached the point where finger prints through gloves can be detected."

"There has been great progress made in the last six or eight years in the detection of crime. Chemistry and photography have done a great deal."

"We are beginning to eliminate the eye-witness proof in crime detection. Eye witnesses are discredited facts without sometimes wishing to do so. Science cannot lie."

with material things. He has spectroscopes, microscopes and X-ray machines by the dozen, each fitted for a special purpose, such as examining blood spots, forged documents, counterfeit money, powder-burned clothes, and all the various kinds of wreckage that is picked up on the trail of a criminal. In the records of his bureau there are more than eight million names of persons who are known to have a connection with the criminal world.

It is said that the criminals of France, who have been brought into contact with this great modern scientist, regard him with all but superstitious awe, and that they sometimes regard him with fear, as one who can work miracles of "black magic."

Doctor Bayle exemplifies the modern trend of criminal study; we no longer depend on the vague guesses of anyone, no matter how naturally gifted. Science has brought her cold, cold light to bear upon the problems that confront those who seek to find and bring to punishment the enemies of the honorable world. Fingerprinting the individual has done away with all the old "eye-witness" identification, which, unfortunately, has been proven to have been so unhappily inaccurate in the past. Many a person has had his fortunes, his reputation, his happiness, and his very life destroyed by the "multitude of witnesses" of which the Good Book so scornfully and so wisely speaks. The finger print, as Doctor Bayle so truly says of all science, does not seek to convict. Coldly, impersonally, it tells the real story, and there is no testimony that can refute it.

CO-OPERATIVE MARKETING OF POULTRY

The advantages and advisability of co-operation in the marketing of poultry are pointed out and strongly emphasized in a bulletin recently issued by the Dominion Live Stock Branch. Besides setting forth the fundamentals of successful co-operation, the bulletin also gives details of the management that should prevail in the office, in the warehouse, in marketing, in grading and stand-ardizing, in pooling, in methods of financing, in the contract between members, and closes with a set of rules embodying a market agreement for local units. Copies may be had on application to the Publications Branch of the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

CIRCLE TOURS OF UNRIVALLED SPLENDOR

Picture the quiet beauty of England's Lakeland, the grandeur of the Adirondacks, and the towering splendor of Swiss mountains, and you will be able to form some idea of the endless scenic panorama which awaits the vacationists taking THE CIRCLE TOURS OF THE CANADIAN PACIFIC.

These delightful tours may be made through Calgary, entering the Rockies at the Gap, through beautiful Banff, lovely Lake Louise and Glacier, leaving the main line for a cruise down the Arrow Lakes, Kootenay Lake and back via Crow's Nest Line. The second tour takes in the same resorts, but extends further through Sicamous and down the picturesque Okanagan lake to Penticton, returning through the Crow's Nest Line (Both tours apply in the reverse direction if desired.)

These wonderful tours are moderately priced, and offer (as well as a princely feast of scenic beauty of mountain, lake and woodland) unrivalled comfort of travel. From the moment of starting up the hour of returning the vacationist is assured of a holiday long to be remembered, for the comprehensive nature of the holiday entertainment and the de luxe travelling arrangements which enable the fullest possible enjoyment to be had from start to finish.

Excursion fares for these tours are on sale June 1st to September 30th, allowing stopovers at any of the delightful resorts. The return limit is October 31st.

GENERAL ELECTION THIS YEAR

Brockville, May 25. — The Recorder and Times, which is close to ministerial circles, says today that it has been informed on reliable authority that it would not be surprised if the federal government decided upon dissolving parliament and going to the country in view of the popularity of Mr. Fielding's "middle of the road" fiscal policy.

"It is agreed," says the paper, that if Sir Wilfrid Laurier had had his own way and gone to the country immediately after the introduction of the reciprocity agreement in 1911, he would have swept the country and the Liberals believe the same thing would happen now if it were present, government appealed to the people."

CRETONNES FOR THE SPRING

There are signs that the best of Early Victorian designs will reappear in modified form in the newest cretonnes and household draperies. The "chintz" design, small rosebuds on trellised or dotted backgrounds.

WHISPERING BUDDS

Does anyone know what the little buds think
When they whisper and stir in their beds?
Their little hearts wearied and restless,
Longing as we do for the life that's unread.
Do they think of the times they will toss their fair heads,
And turn their wee faces to drink of the dew?
Do they think of the bee and the wee humming bird
That will sip once again from a life that is new?
Does anyone know what the little buds say
When each whispereth low to the other?
I am sure I can hear them—as sadly they wonder Where wandereth still, their truant mother.
"Perhaps she forgot where Autumn hath laid us,
Under the wealth of her glory shed;
Perhaps some kind spirit of earth will lead her Joyfully back to her whispering seed."
—Katherine I. Ravey.

comes in various shades and variations. Large birds and floral motifs of the same period have gained in beauty, showing a modification of coloring which, rich and strong though it still is in some selected samples, appears in numerous gradations of shading. Floral subjects are predominant, and there is a marked absence of eccentric patterns.

Designs copied from fabrics in favor during the time of Louis XIV. are revived in the new season's furnishing materials. Rippling ribbons, basket scrolls, and delicate scrolls make these new cretonnes particularly suitable for milady's boudoir.

Then there are beautiful Jacobean and Elizabethan tapestry cretonnes suitable only for oak and dark wood setting. All designs accepted as "Early English" are likely to be extremely popular and will prove most adaptable.

The materials themselves have undergone but slight change in the past months, although experiments have been made. One fabric treated with wax is most handsome, but so far is very expensive to produce. Lovely "shadow tissues"—the most durable of all cretonnes—show a novelty in the background patterned to represent, in faint, soft lines, the veining of marble.

WHEN WE DREAM

Dreamland is a land we enter throughout our lives, but our visits are most frequent between the ages of twenty and twenty-five. We enter it most frequently after six o'clock in the morning.

Women, who sleep more lightly, dream more often than men do; at any rate, it is certain that more women relate their dreams.

We can both hear and smell in the world of dreams. Dream smells are interesting in that they almost always persist for a short time after we wake up.

Eating in dreamland is a very unsatisfactory affair, for although we may dream that we are sitting down to a sumptuous repast we rarely partake of anything, and even if we do it has no taste.

Our movements in dreamland differ in several ways from those in the waking state.

True dream movements are peculiar in that we can experience sensations of flying or floating, in which our bodies as a whole have freer movement than in real life. Further, whereas movements at the smaller joints such as the wrist, ankle, fingers, and toes, are easy to dream about movements of the large joints nearer the body are always carried out with difficulty.

"Say, Harry, how do you teach a girl to swim?" "Easy, just put your left arm under her waist, take her left hand—" "Get out—she's my sister." "Ah, push her off the dock."

THE BIRDS

We're at Summer's dawn of glory,
Flitting, singing songs we know—
Of a conquest and its story, Springtime's battle with the snow.
'Tis the calmer moods of Nature
Which prevails in everything,
From the starting of the flowers,
To the joy that makes us sing,
From the sunrise hear our chorus,
Until evening's golden light
Dies, and draws the twilight o'er us,
And the mantle of the night.
Then the woodnotes cease their calling;
Silence walks the lonely hills;
Echoes of the cascades falling
Every mountain shadow fills.
Every beauty, too, reposes,
Modestly till break of day;
In the valley of the roses,
Then, we sound the reveille.
—Helena Elizabeth Eames.

GLENWOODVILLE NEWS

Mr. James Tagg Sr. his daughter Eva and Mrs. James Tagg, Jr., returned from Salt Lake City, Utah, on May 20th, where they have spent the past winter.

May 20th. Born to Mr. and Mrs.
G. L. Strang, a son, at the Cardston Hospital. Both mother and child are doing fine.

May 22nd. Miss Mary Laidlaw, one of our local school teachers, while riding a horse met with a bad accident. The horse became unmanageable, throwing the girl into the wire fence and inflicting a blow on the head and breaking her color bone, also hurting her knee and ankle. She was taken into the hospital where she received medical assistance. Her temperature was high and in a bad state. She returned to her home on May 26th and is doing nicely.

May 22nd. Mrs. Annie Green, while going down the basement steps slipped and fell injuring her face and fracturing two ribs. She was taken to the Cardston District Hospital, where she received the doctor's attention.
Mrs. Green is improving nicely though she received quite a shaking up.

The Ladies Institute met at the home of Mrs. Edward Newby on May 23rd, where they conducted a sewing class and served refreshments. They decided that Mrs. Lillie Archibald be their delegate to the convention at Edmonton.

Mr. Bob Tagg and young bride,
Miss Eva Salaway, gave their wedding dance here Saturday night. The dance hall was well filled with happy young people. The bride looked beautiful in her pretty silk gown, while the groom was pleased and pleasant. The evening's enjoyment was appreciated.

The U. F. A. Canal is nearing completion, and the work is progressing rapidly. The big headgate at the Cochrane Lake has been open for about ten days. The water has filled many of the reservoirs and is a great blessing to the farmers already.

The Primary Stake Officers were out here to-day for the purpose of reorganizing the Glenwood Primary.
Mrs. A. Leishman was released with all her officers and Mrs. Verland Leavitt was sustained as President, with a corps of new officers. Mrs.
Leavitt has had lots of experience with children, four years in the Day School also with the Primary Work.

"Dennis," inquired Mr. Morgan, glancing up over the door of the Post office building, "What is the meaning of the letters 'MDCCCXCVIII'?"
"They mean eighteen hundred and ninety-eight," "Dennis," don't it strike you that they have carried this spelling reform entirely too far!"

When Sam came home he found a strange darky with his arm around Mandy's waist. "Mandy, tell dat nigger to take his arm from round your waist," he indignantly ordered.
"Tell him yourself, he's a perfect stranger to me," said Mandy.

MONTE CARLO GAMBLING WEATHERS THE STORM

There is no intention whatever of closing either the gambling rooms in the Casino or the Sporting Club, both of which will continue to be operated under the auspices of the Societe des Bains de Mer, a pretty camouflage title of long standing. Nor are the wild tales of scandal and suicide more than partially true. On the other hand, it has been a dramatic season from the point of view of administration of Monte Carlo. A crisis has been reached and passed, though few would care to say how matters will develop next year and subsequently.

The persons involved, according to the New York World, are the following:

H. R. H. Prince Louis of Monaco.
H. R. H. the Duchess de Valenti-nois, his adopted daughter.
Sir Basil Zaharoff, the richest man in Europe.

Camille Blanc, for twenty-seven years dictator of Monte Carlo.
Mme. Chiron, friend of Camille Blanc.

Gregory Vagliano, the greatest gambler of the moment.
M. A. Desperiere, successor to Camille Blanc.

The Crisis
This season's crisis really opened when Prince Louis found himself fixed in the saddle some months ago.
He is a very different man from his eccentric father, who, so long as he was given sufficient funds by the Casino authorities to prosecute his deep sea fishing hobby, did not care even if it snowed in the little principality. The origin of this money is worth recalling. In 1870 one Francis Blanc, who was conducting some gambling rooms at Hamburg, had to leave the country. He went to Monaco with a fat purse, there to find the reigning Prince, Charles III. de Grimaldi, more or less ready to accept a gaming house in existence locally. Francis Blanc proceeded to buy up the place and drew a contract with the reigning Prince, who in return for extending Mon-egasse hospitality was to receive a part of the proceeds. Even thus early Blanc saw, however, difficulties ahead unless he got the entire principality in his hands. He therefore arranged to look after the municipal side, such as the gardens, police, etc. Business boomed, and when Blanc died in 1896 he left a huge fortune to his son Camille. With all Europe flocking to Monte Carlo the gambling continued to bring in millions of dollars annually until the war changed everything. The principality became a centre for wounded soldiers and the gambling was literally stopped for six whole years until 1920. In 1921 a gain of only $900,000 was made, the actual sum taken being $3,700,000. Last year the gain fell to $750,000.

Crooked Looking
Prince Louis coming to the throne meanwhile noticed that not only had Camille Blanc more or less lost control largely through illness, but that his companion, Mme. Chiron, appeared to gamble inordinately; also that despite the falling off in receipts the expenditure was not reduced accordingly—on the contrary. The Prince ordered an inquiry into the affairs of the Casino and Sporting Club. At the latter place there were additional complaints that the Greek Vagliano who had lately purchased large shares in the Societe des Bains de Mer, persistently held the bank at bay with against all comers. Soon the Prince was faced with a slightly more serious situation than he expected. It was openly stated that several people were gambling not with their own money, but with the Casino's. It was further discovered that over 3,000 employees had been drawn into the Casino, including 550 croupiers, and that a large number of these individuals drew princely salaries for doing no work.

Backed by Zaharoff
Stories of his intention to close the inquiry which has just terminated, it was necessary for him, in the financial backing as he would have the Casino funds very low. So the Prince turned to that amazing character, Sir Basil Zaharoff, who spends all his winters at Monte Carlo, but who never has been known to gamble.
Sir Basil proceeded to buy $700,000 worth of stock in the Societe des Bains de Mer, which gave him, working in with the Prince, the right to appoint an entirely new directorate, of which M. Desperiere is the chief, replacing Camille Blanc.
But for Sir Basil's intervention the Casino would have gone bankrupt and probably a great scandal, that has now been hushed up, would have been exposed. Sir Basil has now earned a new nickname; namely, that of "Chief Croupier." Under his aegis all the chief posts have been changed and Mme. Chiron compelled to live outside the principality.

The Princess Disapproves
Behind all this is the figure of the young hereditary Duchessa de Valentinois, who exerts much influence over her father, Prince Louis of Monaco, who adopted her.
The Duchess, who was brought up in England, has since her enforced residence in Monte Carlo never ceased campaigning against gambling.
She says that Monte Carlo spreads more misery than happiness, and broods over the suicides and other tragedies that occur. She also has repeatedly expressed her disapproval of children being brought up in such surroundings—she has two of her own. For the moment, however, she has been overruled, though the Prince, supported by Zaharoff, intends to keep the sternest eye on the gambling in the future. To stop it suddenly would of course mean local ruin, but it is quite possible that gradually it will be modified and that one day, under the rule of the Duchess de Valentinois, it may vanish entirely.

QUEEN OF SPAIN HAS WON
FAVOR

Undoubtedly the Roman Catholic Church is powerful in Spain, and perhaps in no other country would one find a priest making an attack from his pulpit upon the modesty of the Queen. Yet this was the experience which Queen Victoria of Spain had a short time ago, when Father Calasanz deeded his pulpit with photographs of fashionable ladies, including the Queen, and declared:
"These are shockingly décollete." His congregation is a fashionable one, and it is not unlikely that more than one of the ladies whose photographs he condemned were present. After the service there was a scandalized whispering among his hearers, and the priest was generally condemned for disrespect to the Queen. Within a short time all Madrid was discussing the affair. The newspapers took it up, and there was almost unanimous disapproval of the preacher's remarks. One newspaper republicated the photo of the Queen which had been criticized. There was a rush to buy copies, but the only announcement was made that all had been sold. It is supposed that the edition had been suppressed by order of King Alfonso.

Proper Pictures
It is said that the King visited in person the court photographer who had taken the pictures of the Queen and the ladies of the court, and had requested that all the negatives be destroyed. An hour before the order was given a correspondent of the New York World went to the studio and obtained photographs, which the World recently reproduced. After inspection we can report that there is no picture that might be expected to shock anybody but a monk. Some of them indeed would be classified as almost prud-ish on this continent. The priest was called before the Archbishop of Madrid and forbidden to preach pending an inquiry, and the Minister of Justice took proceedings against him for lese majeste. The priest protested that he meant to give no offense to anybody, that his discourse had been misunderstood, and that all he had intended was a moral lesson. Later the lesa majeste proceedings were abandoned, at the instance, it is said, of the Queen, who however she may have been offended as a woman, is undoubtedly a loyal daughter of the Church, the entered shortly before her marriage.

Devoted to Children
Victoria's life in Spain, we gather from the World's correspondence, has not been a happy one. The Queen therefore has been driven to find consolation in the presence of the children, the future of the children. The eldest of these, the Prince of the Asturias, has always been delicate, and the second son,

Don Jaime, has been deaf from birth.
There are two other boys and two girls. One of the latter, Cristina, shares her mother's love for horseback riding, and they are often seen together on the bridge paths. The Queen has devoted herself to her children, having the domestic instincts of the English royal family even more strongly developed because of some of the trials and difficulties of her position.

The Best Dressed Queen Curiously enough this passion of motherhood goes hand in hand with a determination to retain her reputation as the best dressed Queen in Europe. When she was married she was by no means the fashionable looking woman she is to-day. Some of the Spanish noblemen thought her even dowdy, and the hat she wore on her first public appearance in Spain excited derision and pity, one milliner suggesting that she should have worn her wedding cake as it had better lines. It was not long before a marked change came over the quality of the Queen's wardrobe. She may have been dressing to please her beauty-loving husband, or perhaps to please her own dawning appreciation of the adornment of charming clothes, and for some years now she has been regarded as a model of elegance.

The years have changed her figure, have even improved it, a youthful sturdiness having given place to a slender grace, while her carriage has improved and in appearance she is the type of the great lady.
She has appreciated the fact that fine garments add to feminine beauty, and it is said that in 1919 when she visited London she bought

Bullfight vs. Football
Queen Victoria has become popular in Spain, perhaps as popular as her husband, and that is one reason why the ill-advised outburst of Father Calasanz has been so generally condemned. Her horror of the bull fights was known, but it seems to be necessary for a Spanish Queen to attend bull fights. Naturally her box would be the one to command the most gruesome view of the proceedings, but the Queen after some experiences resorted to smoked glasses, which make it possible for her to see nothing at all. She has remained adamant in her refusal to permit any of her children to attend the fights, however, and the Spanish people respect her for it. Moreover, of late she has gone out of her way time and again to show her interest in football, and we learn that the game now threatens the bullfight in popular esteem. Not long ago the great annual fair of Seville was opened for the first time in its history with a football game instead of a bullfight, and the Queen, to celebrate her triumph, rode with fifty of her ladies on ponies from one end of the fair to the other, dressed in Spanish costumes, and pelted with flowers by the cheering people.

When the old lady saw the magician cover a newspaper with a heavy flannel cloth and read print through it she rose in her seat and said, "I'm going home, this ain't no place for a lady in a thin calico dress."

WEDDING BELLS

The marriage of Evelyn Gibson, daughter of Mrs. J. Milne, Blairmore, to Mr. Joseph H. Davis, son of Mrs. E. Davis, Macleod, was solemnized on Wednesday, May 20th, at 3 p. m. at Christ Church, Macleod, Rev. W. J. Merriek officiating. The bride, who was given in marriage by her Step Father, Mr. J. Milne, of Blairmore wore a gown of white satin with hat to match and carried a bouquet of red roses and white carnations. Miss L. Smith (of Champion) groomed in white tricotette embroidered in pink and with pink hat to match and carrying a bouquet of pink roses and white carnations, was the only bridesmaid, while E. L. Davis, brother of the groom acted as best man. The bridal party entered the church to the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March rendered by Mrs. Kerr Seymour. After the ceremony a wedding luncheon was served at the home of the groom's mother. The bride was the recipient of many beautiful wedding gifts. The newly wedded couple will reside 17th St., between first and second avenue.

The wedding guests were: Mr. and Mrs. J. Davis and Mr. and Mrs. J. Milne, of Blairmore; Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Evans, McBride Lake; Mr. and Mrs. W. Davis, Allenfields; Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Holmes, Macleod; Mr. and Mrs. W. Davis, Macleod; Mrs. W. Bodgener, Lethbridge; Miss Brown, Blairmore; Miss Lucile Smith, Champion; Miss Anna Barr, Ardenville; Miss Edna Snee, Macleod; Mr. N. C. Hart and Mr. B. B. Gardner, Macleod.

CHILDREN'S CANTATA WAS GREAT SUCCESS

The children's cantata was one of the best juvenile musical performances that have been seen in Macleod, and a large audience at the Empress theatre both Thursday afternoon and evening was evidently delighted with the entertainment. The first part of the program was given by Mrs. Kerr Seymour's pupils in a musical recital entitled "Snow White," which was excellently performed and rendered. The second item was a musical playlet entitled "A Dream of Fairyland," in which over seventy children took part. Both these numbers were beautifully acted and the singing and scenery were unsurpassed.

Great credit is due to Mrs. J. W. McDonald for her untiring efforts in training the children and bringing them to such a state of perfection in the "Dream of Fairyland," also praise is due Mrs. Kerr Seymour for the excellent show produced by her pupils. The last half of the program was both instrumental and vocal.

The pianoforte playing of Miss Dorothy Embury and Miss Lillie Andrews two young ladies of about 15 years, was specially good, as also was the rendering of the song "The Garden of My Heart" by Mrs. Morris and Alex Dunn. One of the best turns on the program was that of little Beryl Underwood in her excellent impersonation of "Bill." This wee tot of six years of age impersonated a boy to perfection, and she never once flattered on the long recitation she gave so well. Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Kerr Seymour, in their pianoforte and violin duet, thoroughly deserved the accolades they received as also did Miss Vera Benson for her two excellent vocal numbers.

short course will be published at an early date.

The course will begin on Monday, July 9th, and will finish on Saturday, July 14th. The pupils will obtain board and room at the School for which no charge will be made. The course will be made as practical and interesting as possible. The instruction given will conform closely to that given to full course students at the School of Agriculture, but will of necessity be of a more elementary nature. The students must be at least twelve years of age, and only one pupil of any one family will be eligible to attend.

It is hoped that the fortunate pupils will avail themselves of this opportunity to spend a profitable and enjoyable week of their summer vacation.

HE WILL LEAD THEE

He will lead thee,
He will feed thee;
And His graciousness bestow,
Gently speed thee,
Ever need thee,
All His wondrous love to know.

He will tend thee,
And defend thee,
From the harm on every side,
Ne'er forsake thee,
But will take thee
'Neath His care whate'er betide.

Not distress thee,
But will bless thee;
Planning for your trust in Him,
He will hold thee,
Safely fold thee
When His own are gathered in.

DRY GOODS

Snap and bargains constantly on view. We display from time to time special lines we want to clear out, all marked in plain figures. Keep your eyes open—a bargain should never be too small to despise. Dimes and nickels made our millionaires.

HOSIERY

The parson looked her in the eye and said, "Young lady I see you have on sheer silk chiffon hose of Cordovan, and last week gun metal. Also another day one of your stockings was clocked." She sweetly smiled, and blushing murmured, "They may or may not be clocked, but I am sure they are often watched." So instead of looking at the prices, watch and pray that ye be not tempted, or led into temptation, for if you see our hose on others you will and can't resist to invest.

HOLE-PROOF HOSIERY

is sold on a commission basis, and to cut on the price means so much less percentage to us, yet we have resolved to sell Hole-Proof at $1.85 per pair. This is as low as in the seat of manufacture. We have a few pair of clocked silk-wool mixture formerly sold at $2.75, reduced to $2.00. These are very choice.

SHOES, BOOTS AND SLIPPERS

We must have dozens of sizes of shoes that the manufacturers have discarded for new styles under another name. Every week we will change them in the window, and sell at cost and in many instances less than first cost to us. A nimble squire is better than a shilling sleeping on the shelf.

Five per cent of our purchasers are very keen and know a bargain, but the other ninety-five per cent don't care, or like the Foolish Virgins, put off till another day.
